ANNOTATIONS

RECIPES :: ADVANCED RECIPE SEARCH - RESULTS

1 OLD BAY Recipe Search feature – Post Submittal functionalityNOTES:

1. Hold the User's selected & entered search criteria until User chooses a new search

Note: The user's entered/selected info will be held until the user leaves the page.

2 Number of Results Found + Pagination

- Provides pagination feature/functionality so User can navigate results

functionalityNOTES:

1. Return 10 results per page
2. User can choose to navigate pages via following options:
 - a) [<] (previous) + [>] (next) links
 - o Disable [<] on page 1
 - o Disable [>] on last page of series
 - o If only 1 page of results, disable both [<] & [>] and remove individual page links
 - b) Individual Page # links – enables User to jump directly to desired page
 - o Max # of pages = 10
 - o If only 1 page of results, disable both [<] & [>] and remove individual page links
3. Present at the top & bottom of page

3 Results Pool

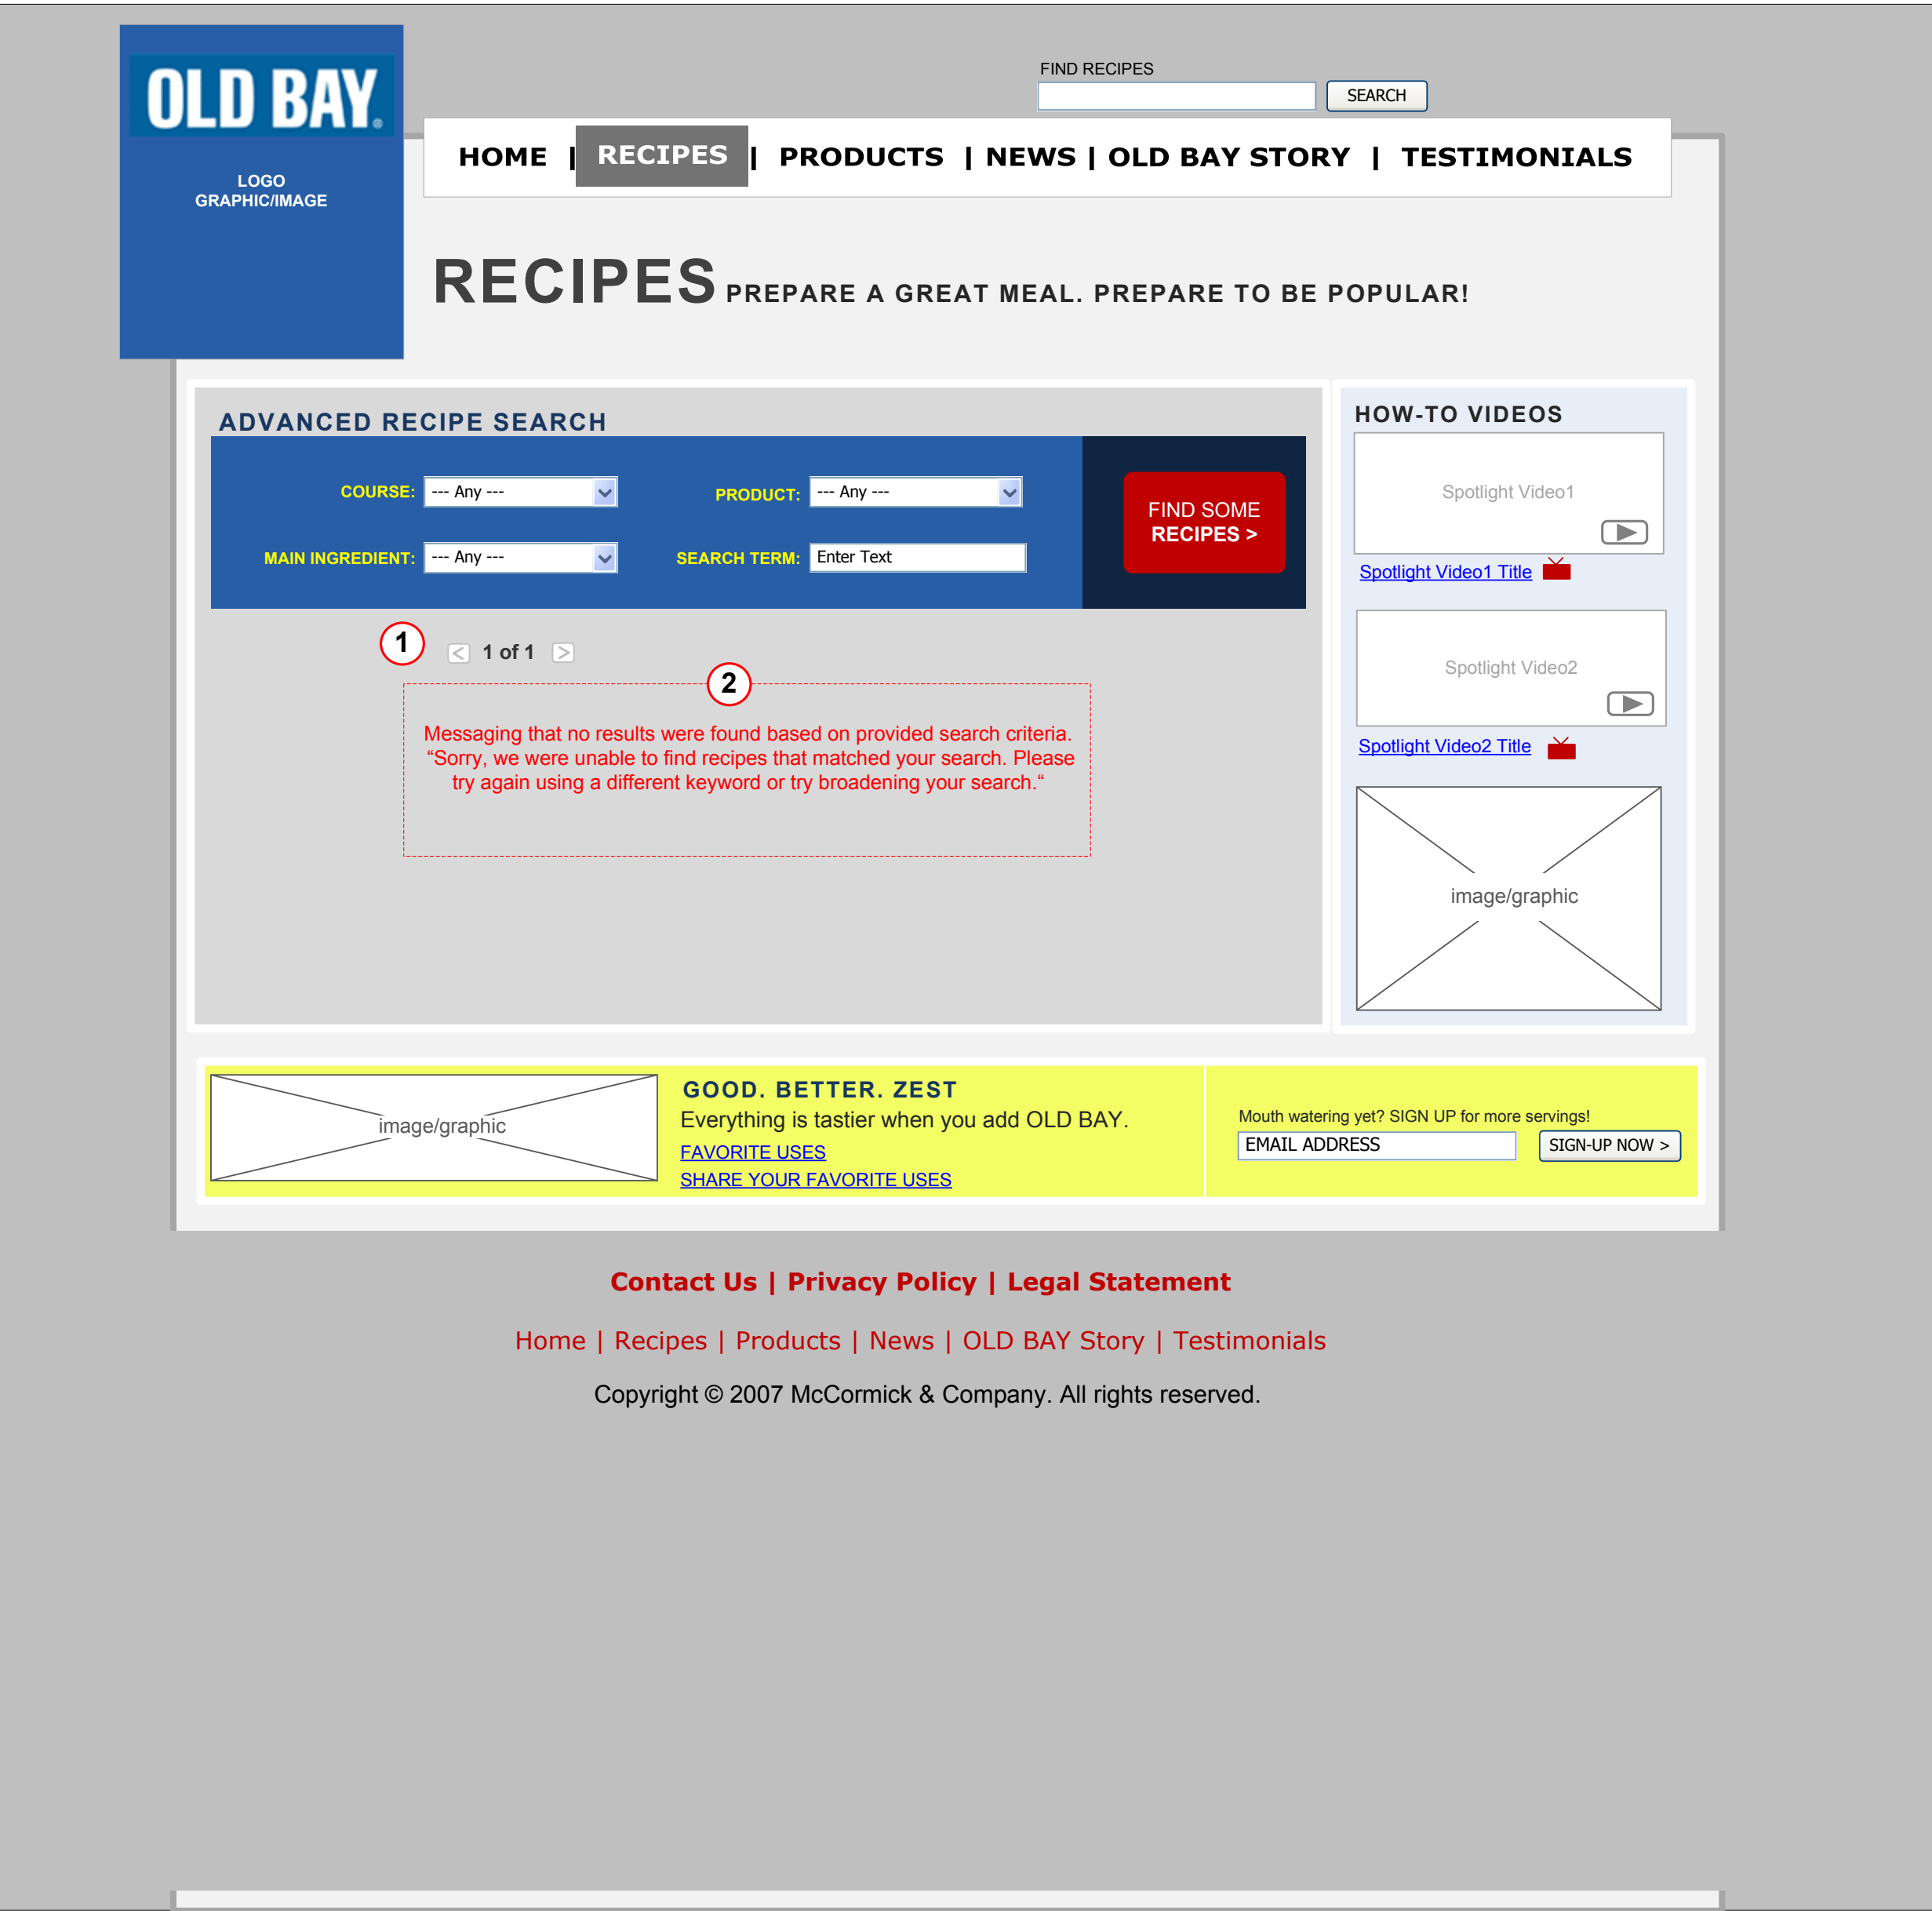

- List 10 results (recipes) per page
- List results alphabetically
- Each result consists of the following features:
 - o RecipeTitle link – connects User with respective Recipe Detail page
 - o Recipe Brief Description – provides a brief description of recipe

NOTE: # of characters TBD

NOTE: Why list results Alpha versus based on Relevancy

A) hard to determine relevance given that all recipes contain Main Ingredient in Recipe Title

B) in scenario that User searches on defaults (---Any---), then there is no relevancy – only alphabetical.

ANNOTATIONS

RECIPES :: ADVANCED RECIPE SEARCH – NO RESULTS FOUND

OVERVIEW

No results (recipes) were found based on the User's submitted search criteria

- 1 Relevant Messaging
Provide the User with messaging indicating what's occurred
- 2 Pagination
 - indicate that it's only 1 page of results
 - disable the [>] (next page) link since there is only 1 page of results
 - remove all other pagination

NOTE:
Don't think this scenario will ever occur since the drop-down menus default to "--- Any ---", which means that no matter what the User enters in the open text field, results will be returned.

Unless text field entry carries more weight than other 3 refinement items
